

Frontier Communications Expands Frontier AnyWare™ Business Service Offering

July 11, 2018

Service Expands Options for Cloud-Based Collaboration

NORWALK, Conn.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jul. 11, 2018-- Frontier Communications Corporation (NASDAQ:FTR) today announced the launch of Frontier AnyWare UCaaS, its cloud-based, Unified Communications as a Service (UCaaS) solution for small and medium-size businesses (SMB) and enterprise customers.

"Today, our customers want to migrate their voice and collaboration needs to the Cloud," said Ken Arndt, Executive Vice President of Commercial Sales for Frontier. "Frontier AnyWare lets customers manage their business with a flexible, scalable, mobile, and affordable collaboration solution powered by Frontier's Cloud. With Frontier AnyWare's mobile app, businesses can focus on their customers without managing a complex communications infrastructure," Arndt said.

UCaaS shifts a business's cost of communications architecture to Frontier, an experienced service provider. Leased phones and equipment allow companies to adopt new technologies without worry that features will become outdated.

The Frontier AnyWare UCaaS collaboration solution is built on Frontier's redundant data centers for high availability and powered by Frontier's low-latency data network for business continuity and deployment flexibility. The platform enables a company to become mobile-centric, providing the flexibility necessary to operate across iOS, Android, PC and Mac applications on a variety of devices. The service platform features an affordable monthly subscription rate and can accommodate the various types of users a business may have.

"Frontier AnyWare makes the transition to cloud-based communications customizable, cost-effective, and is ideal for a growing business. It operates on any broadband and data network; and when combined with Frontier Ethernet and high-speed solutions, the benefits are greater. We've optimized the solution to eliminate the upfront cost of investing in and maintaining on-premises PBX systems," concluded Arndt.

Frontier AnyWare is hosted, provided, and supported by Frontier Business™ to deliver enterprise-level collaboration tools for businesses of any size. It is the perfect solution for businesses seeking to cut costs, eliminate unnecessary applications, and scale communication needs.
